Adios, Hasta Manana

Once more, the bond which ties each senior class to Henderson High School is to be severed by graduation. Our high school life, so enjoyed by all, has reached its termination. No longer may we tread the halls and enter the classrooms in pursuit of knowledge. Gone are the days of work and play here. We have climbed another rung in the ladder of life.

This senior year has been the climax of the years of our school experience. We are now on the highest peak of our life and from that peak we look back on past years and with a sigh, long to be able to live them again. Yet, from that peak, too, we gaze toward the future in hopeful anticipation of the years to come. We cannot bring back the past and we cannot escape the future, hence, we must live for the future; that it may be promising, that it may be worthy of the training we have received here. As we say farewell, our hearts swell up within us, and yet we look ahead with a smile.

We must leave, but you are left to take our places. May you carry on, befitting the traditions of Henderson High School. May you act well your part on the stage of life. We will watch your growth and the growth of our school even though we may no longer be a part of it. So, with the greatest hope for your success and a cherry "Good Luck" we say, "Adios, hasta mañana." (Goodby, until tomorrow.)

Where Do We Go From Here, Boys?

The foremost question in our minds at this period of advancement is, After graduation, what then? It is perfectly in line with human nature that this question should come up, for all of us have the fundamental desire to plan our future, that we may attain the highest and best which the world has to offer.

Our generation has before it probably the most difficult and complicated world which any generation has had to face. In making our decisions, we will have to take into consideration circumstances and situations which have never before arisen. We must be broad-minded, open-minded, and clear-headed as we face the morrow. Never before have such difficult problems and enigmas of a world-wide scope rested upon the shoulders of a generation as they do upon ours. The planning of a lasting peace, the bringing together of labor and capitalism, the paying of our national debt, the determining of America's future position in world affairs are a few of the many which appear on the horizon.

But what of the immediate future? As to that, there will be three main classes into which most of us will fall: those who will become, if you will pardon the expression, "liberal arts business men," such as lawyers, educators, and the like; those who will become technicians in a broad sense of the word, engineers, artists, or musicians; and those who will remain in the military field.

Into the first of these classes will fall fewer of our members than of any preceding generation, because of our war-time point of view. We can't help feeling a preference for positions which have been emphasized as necessary for a better world and a better America. However, it is well that some of us adopt the customary procedure of taking over the father's business and becoming a sedate and calm partisan of "life as usual," because those of us who take the glittering positions of war-time importance will need to have one foot kept on the ground. Those technical positions are necessary also. The improvement of our world depends entirely upon those engineers, scientists, and artists which our generation will produce. We must strive to forge ahead into a better life.

It is inevitable that as we pass through a compulsory military training period as most of us will, some will find the life of the army or the navy most suitable for their future. The "professional fighters" are always needed in this world of continual strife and tribulation. It is a good life, if you like it. So keep your world "down to earth" with every decision carefully made, if you feel that's your place in life. Be a rock upon which all may find assurance. But if you'd rather be a go-getter, lift your world to the skies. Improve, enrich it, better it in every way, if that's your goal in life. Or keep a watchful eye for those who would destroy us. Be the "man behind the gun," if that's your place.

History of Class of 1943

members, the largest class ever to enter high school up to this time, came in the portals of Henderson High School, we were probably the greenest of the green.

It took us a while to get used to the many things and the upper classmen, particularly the sophomores who laughed up their sleeves at our futile efforts to open the new, baffling lockers.

But we soon became used to things and settled down to some hard, steady work. The days flew by and with each passing day we realized how fortunate we were in having such wonderful opportunities, and we really enjoyed our work. We were disappointed when we learned that we wouldn't be able to have a freshman play, but that was soon forgotten with the coming days of spring. The summer vacation was soon here and we realized that a year of high school had flown by.

When the fall of 1940 rolled around we returned to "ye old high school," very proud of the fact that we were the mighty sophomore class and tried to act dignified in the face of the other students, particularly the incoming freshmen.

As sophomores we thought we knew it all but soon realized that we didn't. Being more familiar with the faculty and school than we had been in the preceding year, we soon fell into the motion of our glorious second year in high school.

Soon the time rolled by for our sophomore play and we were all very excited over this fact because it would be our first production. The play "Ann of Green Gables" was selected by our class to be given, and Florence Glenn was chosen to play the leading role. With the aid of excellent faculty coaching and admirable work on the part of the cast, we turned in a wonderful performance.

Soon spring rolled around again and to many sophomores a very important event. Twelve couples were chosen by the junior class to serve as waiters and waitresses at the Junior-Senior Banquet. This closed our sophomore year, and we all went away happy at the thought of summer vacation and returning next year to be sophisticated juniors.

When we returned to school for our third year we were beginning to realize just how important our high school education was. Our junior play, "The Patsy," in which Billy and Laura Jane Crabtree took leading roles, was received very enthusiastically by an appreciative audience.

WILLIAM DAVID PAYNE

To Mr. W. D. Payne, Principal of Henderson High School, we dedicate this 1943 Senior Issue of The Bulldog, in appreciation of his understanding, guidance, and untiring efforts in our behalf, particularly with the undefeated football team of 1942.

On December 7, 1941, we were treacherously attacked by Japan and our nation was soon at war with all Axis nations.

This had a great effect, not only on our high schools, but on all schools in the country. Quite a few of our boys in Henderson High School enlisted in the armed forces, but the rest of us resolved to redouble our efforts and stick to our studies.

Soon another spring was here and this time we, as juniors, were to prepare a Junior-Senior ourselves. Due to the war we decided to conserve on all materials and to hold the Junior-Senior as a carnival. This change in the historical, almost sacred, Junior-Senior was cheerfully accepted by the seniors and a good time was had by all at the new type of Junior-Senior.

Before we could ever turn around, vacation time was here again and everyone was looking forward to the summer.

When the fall of '42 rolled around and we turned our heads again to school we could hardly realize that we, only three years ago freshmen, were now the powerful, dignified seniors.

The year started off with a "bang," and when the football season was ended, the Bulldogs had an undefeated record of ten wins and no losses, something never before achieved by Henderson High School. Many of the boys from our class were on the team and contributed to this record. We felt extra proud of these fellows.

Our senior play was a patriotic comedy, "American Passport," with Calvin Faulkner taking the leading role. The play was a success and was enthusiastically received by a large audience.

The changes of the year brought with them the election of the senior superlatives of which there were thirty-two couples.

We suddenly realized that our days in high school were numbered and began to look back over our achievements. Only 106 out of the 179 students that started will graduate. Some have just dropped out, while others have enlisted in the armed forces. One of the unique things about this year's graduating class is that it will be the last eleventh grade graduating class in the history of our school, as we are adding a badly needed twelfth grade.

Although all of us are looking forward to graduation, we have suddenly realized that our daily life will seem strange without Henderson High School, and we all have a twinge of sorrow at the thought of leaving high school.

We are now writing finis to a four-year period of high school and soon each of us will go his separate way, but I am sure that in every one's heart there will always be a big place for Henderson High School and the memories of the happy days of play and study that we spent here.

Ye Olde Prophet Gives A Peek At The Future

By "IRV"

Ten Years From Now

During the past months I have spent many hours in silence and deep concentration looking at the future of a few Seniors. A few times I have seen things that I have not understood and could not figure out. I have to admit I had a little help from a higher source of understanding. (I wanted to be sure about your future.) Read forth and see what the future holds for YOU.

(As we did not plan your future, only foretell it, don't blame us if it doesn't suit you.)

Ed Bagwell, head of the Boy Scouts of America.

Pickney Barrier, head signal man on the Seaboard Railroad.

Allen Brady, just plain old "Gat."

Grace Bryan, probably Mrs. "Buzz" Hicks.

Mary Ann Bullock, quiet as ever.

Marion Calloway, "Queenie," queen of them all. (Gaiety Theatre, New York.)

Laura Jane Crabtree, doing a little piano playing and singing.

Billy Daniel (Sil), taking over Einstein's place.

Edith Davis, Mrs. Bruce Collins, mother of nine children.

Edith Dickerson, world's biggest flirt.

S. G. Edwards (Dude), head soda jerk at Page-Hocutt and still the "Dude" of the town.

Dorothy Eubanks, still looking for a tall six-footer with bags under his eyes.

David Evans, running a grocery store (with help).

Calvin Falkner (Cotton), running the world's largest dairy.

Stewart Fogleman (Fogie), Physical Education Director at Aycock School.

Jo Freeman, just as successful as ever.

Florence Glenn (Flossie), taking care of about 35 children (teaches the second grade).

Ronald Gilliland (Gillie), with Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus (would's fattest man).

Sidney Green, world's smallest aviator.

Albert Grissom, great orator.

Ann Haithecock, helping to run a grocery store.

Jesse Dale Hamlet, making her debut on a New York stage.

Irene Hamm, still blonde, pretty and shy.

Furman Harper (Speck), dancing instructor.

Frank Harris (Country), still a farm boy.

Mary Cooke Harris, displaying fashions in New York.

Hilda Harte, head nurse at Watts Hospital (has been secretly married for nine years).

Clair Hedgepeth, drum major of the United States Army Band.

Frank Hester, about twice as tall as in '43 and still on the farm.

Frances Hight, married, with three giggling kids.

Billy Hight (Stinky), great scooper for New York Times. (Still Wolf-ing.)

Minnie Hughes, designer of modern "Zoot-Suits."

Sidney Jennette, engineer in United States Army.

John LeMay, still plowing his old mule.

Jane Lowry, finally caught herself a soldier.

Lyman McLean, assistant to Ed Bagwell in Scouts.

Joe Mayo, country doctor.

Carlos Mills (Peter), digging ditches in Japan with the United States Seabees.

Mabel Neathery, still chasing the men.

Vashti Newman, caught one.

Ann Nichols, doing secretarial work and wooing her boss all at the same time.

Pete Parham, writing wild west stories.

Peggy Parker, making her debut in Radio City Music Hall.

Edward Pruitt (Peter), still hounding the women.

Sonny Randolph, Professor of chemistry.

Annie Ross, Mrs. Robert Ridgely.

Bobby Sanders (Jix), Major in United States Army.

Billy Slack (Kozar), Commander in the United States Navy.

Christine Snead (Chris), star of "The Victory Girls."

Ann Rose Southerland, married to ??????? and has seven children.

Brady Stainback (Monk), plenty cars and gas to ride the women around in.

Edna Taylor, Mrs. "Red" Falkner.

Billy Teague (Fritzie), one of the bosses in Germany sent by the United States Government.

Louise Teiser (Weezie), living in an apartment above Ann Southerland and looking after her six children.

Grady Tharrington, still combing that wave in his hair.

Charles Treese (Slick), designer of "Slick Airplanes."

Robert Turner (Unie), Colonel in United States Army Air Corps.

Irvin Turner (Irv), ???????????.

Elizabeth Upchurch, blondest blonde in town.

Majorie Van Dyke, still carrying the torch for ???????????.

Hailey Vickery, still shooting bull.

Janice Way, the biggest little thing on earth.

Catherine Weaver, we wonder ?? ???????.

Thad Wester, king of the clarinet.

Bill Wester, still wooing the women and doing a little politicking on the side.

Wilbur Williams, the laziest white man in the world.

Raymond Wilson (Red), after completing his tenth year with the United States Marines, has been promoted to rank of Corporal.

William White (Boo), still being late as ever.

Horace Woodlief, test pilot for Lockheed.

Hilary Worthington (Hil), another Robert Browning with poetry.

James Wortham (Cow), still hard at work on the farm.

Jensen Yow (Jen), displaying his works in the Museum of National Arts.

The above prophecies are correct and as accurate as we can figure. If anyone is not satisfied with his future, please wait, for "Time Changes Everything."

CLASS POEM OF 1943

*The lilting sound of music
That fills the atmosphere,
Reminds us that our parting time
Is sadly drawing near.*

*The sound of by-gone laughter
The days of work and play,
The loves of past and present
Remind us now to say:*

*"Farewell, dear Alma Mater;
Thy beauty we adore!
We thank thee for thy knowledge;
We'll keep it ever more.*

*"Farewell to you—and you;
Uphold our school in all!
Hold high the Blue and White
And never let it fall!"*

*But now we must be gone
To things about the world;
Help us to keep the courage,
And keep that flag unfurled.*

*To do some deed at home,
Or on some foreign field—
"To strive, to seek,
To find, and not to yield."*

*Now in the path we tread
Where other's feet have trod;
And in this task, we ask
The blessing of our God.*

—HILARY WORTHINGTON.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

The Senior Class of one thousand nine hundred and forty-three of Henderson High School, having realized that their high school existence ends on the eventful day, May 13, do hereby make, declare, and publish this their last will and testament.

Realizing that at the end of the above said day they will have no further use for the gifts and belongings they now possess, they decide it best to distribute the gifts to those needs they seem best fitted.

They have tried to be just, as well as generous, and trust that no ill-feeling will prevail among those who were omitted from the will. To those who were fortunate enough to be included, be thankful for what you are given, and remember that many more are excluded than included.

The document now follows as duly drawn and sworn.

Item 1. First, We give and bequeath to our Superintendent, Mr. E. M. Rollins, our sincere appreciation for all he has done for us. We also extend our regret that he could not serve his term of two weeks as principal.

Second, We give and bequeath to our Principal, Mr. W. D. Payne, our heartiest congratulations for guiding our football squad through the season with a perfect record. We sincerely trust that he will be as fortunate next year. We also extend our admiration to him on his excellent training at Fort Brage and hope that he may go again. (In peace time.)

Third, Again we give and bequeath to our beloved sponsors, Miss Eleanor Green, Miss Ruby Steelman, Mrs. Electa Massengill, and Mr. R. B. Harrison our deepest admiration and a friendship and our regret that we have to part with them.

Item Two. To the faculty we give and bequeath:

First, To Miss Lessie Cogdell, a student that will not chew gum and will keep his feet off the waste-paper basket.

Second, To Miss Shannon Morton, a special stage for her dramatic club with all the conveniences.

Third, To Miss Eleanor Green, a print shop in Henderson sufficient to take care of the needs of the BULLDOG and a journalism class that will have all work in on time.

Fourth, To Miss Ruby Steelman, a set of maps for her history classes.

Fifth, To Miss Ruth Evelyn Byrd, a medal for her success in selling War Bonds and Stamps and a class that will not sleep through first period.

Sixth, To Miss Anne Felton, a new set of books for her library.

Seventh, To Miss Hope Holcombe, a certain, shining, "o' keep 'em, no-ale."

Eighth, To Mr. R. B. Harrison, a D. O. class large enough to take up all his time.

Item Three. To the Junior Class we will and bequeath, first the dignity and intelligence of a senior. May you try your utmost to uphold it.

Second, To Billy Mitchell, the executive ability of Bill Wester.

Third, To E. N. Bailey, the dancing qualities of "Spec" Harper.

Fourth, To Betty Bowie, the singing talents of Peggy Parker.

Fifth, To Rollie Vaughn, the secrets of Ed Pruitt's love-making.

Item Four. To the Sophomore class we will and bequeath all our knowledge on how to make money for the seniors in the future and our sincerest desire that you will be able to have a Junior-Senior Banquet with all the trimmings.

Second, To Lawrence Lowry, the football ability of Carlos Mills.

Third, To Barbara Brake, the popularity of "Weezie" Teiser. (May the best girl win).

Fourth, To Robert Isley, the attraction of Billy Teague for women.

Fifth, To Hurley Mills, the column rights of "Stinky" Hight.

Item Five. To the Freshman Class we will and bequeath our affection and deepest friendship and the assurance that you are no longer the "babies" of Henderson High; also to the majority of the class the size of our mighty he-man, Stewart Fogelman!

Second, To Herman Crocker, the size of Hilary Worthington.

Third, To Fannie Harris, the musical ability of Jane Lovry.

Fourth, To Jenne Tanner, the singing ability of Laura Jane Crabtree.

Fifth, To J. B. Nowell, the "court-ning" ability of David Evans.

Item Six. To Mr. W. T. Hearne and the Band we will and bequeath our affection and appreciation for all you have done for Henderson High and for your excellent rating in the last contest.

Item Seven. To Miss Cogdell we will and bequeath our compliments for the splendid showing the Glee Club has made this year.

Signed, sealed, made, and declared this to be our last will and testament, this thirteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three.

Signed:

THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1943.

CLASS MASCOTS

Mascot Robert Andrew Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Parker, Jr., is a blond, sturdy young man, with a smile that would warm an ice cube. At five, his chief interest rests in hand work, at which he is quite apt. He is a bit stubborn, according to his mother, who also claims he's a very smart fellow. His blue eyes and peaches and cream complexion are the envy of many of our senior girls. However, he's just a swell little boy, who's crazy about his big brother and little sister. We're proud to have him for our mascot.

Mascot Alice Manning Finch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Finch, is very like a Dresden china figure with her golden curls, blue eyes, and delicate pink-white complexion. A tiny, dainty little girl, she is quite a performer (remember her "You Are My Sunshine")? A bit shy at first appearance, she seems happy, friendly, and unspoiled after a minute's conversation. This quaint, doll-like lassie is an ideal choice for our mascot.
